John the Baptist, from prison, sent messengers to ask Jesus if He was the one to come or if they should wait for another.

The centurion told Jesus, through friends, that he was not worthy for Jesus to come under his roof but believed Jesus could heal with just a word.

Jesus told Simon a parable about two debtors, explaining that those who are forgiven much love much, and He forgave the woman's sins, telling her that her faith had saved her.

Jesus spoke to the crowd about John, saying he was more than a prophet and the one foretold in Scripture to prepare the way for the Messiah.

Moved with compassion, Jesus touched the coffin and raised the young man from the dead, and the crowd glorified God, saying, "A great prophet has arisen among us!"

Jesus told the messengers to report what they had seen: the blind receive sight, the lame walk, lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, and the good news is preached to the poor.
